

DISTRICT ATTORNEY ANDERSON AND ASSISTANTS.

COMES TO A CLOSE

Evidence Concluded in Trial of Frank W. Funk.

SUBMISSION OF PRAYERS BY COUNSEL

Arguments in the Case Begun This Afternoon.

TESTIMONY HEARD TODAY

In a court room densely crowded the beginning of the end of the trial of Frank W. Funk was noted this morning when the defense, after the examination of the witness, announced that it rested its case. The government then began the introduction of evidence in rebuttal. It had previously been stated by the court that the trial should be concluded, if possible, by tomorrow evening.

The cross-examination of the defendant was in progress until after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, an adjournment then being ordered until this morning. It was not noted that any material fact was developed by the cross-examination of Funk that the defense had not admitted to be true.

The witness who was called this morning by the defense made statements which were regarded to be of most decided importance, and his testimony may have a bearing on the case. The witness was Dr. Edwin B. Behrend, and he said he is an expert as regards chemical and microscopic methods of examination. Dr. Behrend is a resident of the Washington Medical College, has studied in many of the leading universities of Europe, has served in the army, and for ten years has been using the microscope constantly. For two hours yesterday, so Dr. Behrend testified, he examined the specimen taken by Dr. Schaeffer from the body of the defendant, and he found that it was a piece of human brain or nerve tissue in the specimen. He said that he was not permitted to testify in court, counsel are authorized for the statement that during the examination of the specimen yesterday Dr. Schaeffer asked the witness to examine the specimen used by the latter was a decidedly superior instrument to that used by himself when making the examination of the specimen on which his testimony was based.

The defense, as stated, closed here, and the government began its rebuttal by recalling Sophie Brown, Dr. Schaeffer, and Mrs. Mary Suit and Margaret Brown, who were called to verify the statements of the witness. The government then called the examination these witnesses failed to do was that other parties were clothed the same.

What He Discovered.

With emphasis Dr. Behrend declared that with no brain or nerve tissue in the specimen. He did locate, however, epithelium, a cell which appears on the surface of the skin. Such cell might come from any portion of the body.

Although it was not permitted to testify in court, counsel are authorized for the statement that during the examination of the specimen yesterday Dr. Schaeffer asked the witness to examine the specimen used by the latter was a decidedly superior instrument to that used by himself when making the examination of the specimen on which his testimony was based.

The defense, as stated, closed here, and the government began its rebuttal by recalling Sophie Brown, Dr. Schaeffer, and Mrs. Mary Suit and Margaret Brown, who were called to verify the statements of the witness. The government then called the examination these witnesses failed to do was that other parties were clothed the same.

Jennie Beederbeck Recalled.

Next, Jennie Beederbeck, a woman Funk was married in Philadelphia August 24, 1898, was recalled by the government. The witness was asked if Funk had assaulted her on a certain occasion, and the defense objected on the ground that such testimony was not admissible. In urging the objection counsel for the defense said that throughout the trial the government has been working for effect. This met with the approval of the United States attorney, who said that the defense was not to be given the benefit of the doubt. A long argument followed on the part of the government, and the witness was recalled.

Mr. Olinde said that during the past two years no new houses have been erected in the immediate vicinity of the intersection of 25th street and New Hampshire avenue. The intention of the government was to contradict Mr. Degue, who said that the 23rd of June, 1898, he went to the neighborhood of 25th street and New Hampshire avenue to see a man who was at work on three new buildings.

Beckett admitted having made the remark, but said he did not know the man with whom he was talking was a juror. Beckett was on the witness stand when this report closed.

The Objection Sustained.

Justice Cole sustained the objection of the defense to the offering by the government of testimony tending to show acts of alleged violence on the part of the defendant that attention be given to the fact that the case at issue, Jennie Beederbeck, in consequence, retired from the stand, and placing being taken by John D. Gallagher of 25th Street.

Hearing Continued.

The hearing in the case of Frank Cox, colored, charged by Sarah Danglerdell, also colored, with seduction, which was begun in the Police Court yesterday, was resumed this afternoon. Attorney Chase, for the defendant, called a number of witnesses. Among them was a young colored man named Bernard H. Beckett. When this witness was sworn one of the jurors arose and said he desired to make a statement. He told the court that the witness Beckett had remarked to him yesterday that Cox was innocent. Mr. Mulloony, the prosecuting attorney, expressed surprise at the conduct of the witness, and suggested that some action should be taken.

Beckett admitted having made the remark, but said he did not know the man with whom he was talking was a juror. Beckett was on the witness stand when this report closed.

INCREASE IN RATES

Hearing Before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

EASTERN RAILWAY MEN PRESENT

Chairman Gill Tells Why the Advances Were Made.

MAINTENANCE COSTS MORE

A hearing was begun today by the interstate commerce commission in the matter of changes in freight classification and advances in freight rates by carriers using the official classification. Many complaints have been filed with the commission alleging that discriminating changes in freight classification have been made by the carriers to take effect January 1, 1900. To determine this question, the hearing of today was held.

Many of the most prominent railway freight officials of the eastern part of the country attended the hearing, and representatives of large shipping interests of the same section were also present.

Cause of Increased Rates.

At the opening of the hearing, Mr. C. E. Gill of New York, chairman of the "official classification committee," said the railroads were without knowledge of the persons who had requested the hearing, and asked that they be called upon to state wherein the proposed changes were unjust. Mr. Gill maintained that the proposed advances in freight rates were due to the increased cost of railroad plants and maintenance, and the advances had been applied to classes of freights that could well pay them.

Mr. Gill's contention that the shippers be first interrogated was overruled, and he himself was called upon to stand.

He said that due consideration of all protests would be considered by the classification committee, but the committee was satisfied that the proposed advances were necessary, on account of the increased cost of railway operation. He intimated that for the same reason still further advances would have to be made. Upon many articles Mr. Gill maintained that existing rates of freight were "unjustifiably low."

New Changes Merely Restoration.

In the course of a long examination by Mr. W. A. Day, attorney for the commission, Mr. Gill gave no reasons for the proposed advances upon special articles or classes of freight, except the general reason which applied to all freight. He maintained that the proposed new classifications, generally speaking, were a restoration of freight rates which prevailed in times past, when commercial and trade conditions were similar to that they now.

His replies to a long series of questions indicated that his own belief and that of his colleagues on the classification committee was that the restoration of the price of railway equipment and operation in steel rails and all forms of steel and iron, etc., rendered it necessary for the railroads to advance freight rates. He said freight rates had been on a gradually descending scale for about twenty years, but he was unable to say whether the proposed rates would be higher or lower than the rates which prevailed in 1892.

Alleged Efforts to Procure Testimony.

Allan Wilson of Baltimore also testified that efforts had been made to induce him to testify that he had seen Funk in Washington Circle the day of the murder, although the witness said he had not been in this city for seven years prior thereto. When asked about his witness, Mr. Wilson said that he was not paid for his testimony, but he would not be paid unless he testified. While here the witness said he stopped at the residence of Mr. William Funk.

This closed the rebuttal. It being 12:30 o'clock, a recess was taken for forty-five minutes, the jury, however, being excused until 2 o'clock.

Age of a Juror.

When the afternoon session of the court began Attorney Baker called attention to the fact that Juror Patterson, when examined during the impaneling of the jury, stated that he was then within ten days of reaching the age of sixty-five years. He is now, therefore, sixty-five years of age. Under the law a person who has attained the age of sixty-five years is not competent to sit as a juror. Attorney Baker explained that he called attention to the fact that the juror was over the age of sixty-five years, and that he included in the record of the case.

The Arguments Resumed.

The government offered no prayers. Those of the defense had been passed upon at twenty minutes before 3 o'clock, and at that time Assistant United States Attorney Taylor began the argument in behalf of the government to the jury. It was agreed that each side should be allowed five hours for argument.

"It will not be required, I hope," remarked Mr. Taylor.

"I would like to insist that Mr. Taylor should be permitted to address the jury," the court stipulated that the opening for each side should be made before adjournment, and in order that such might be the case the court will probably be held this evening.

Plans for Premises.

Disapproval of Sewer Connections in Certain Cases.

The District Commissioners have approved a recommendation made to them by Mr. Charles B. Hall, the inspector of plumbing, in that on February 1, 1900, he be required to disapprove plans for premises having sewer connections in which the supply of Potomac water is made available through yard hydrants, and require, in all plans for new houses, that a kitchen sink be provided. Also that the inspector of plumbing be given general discretion in all such cases to allow the omission of the running trap required by section 114 of the plumbing regulations, provided that the vent from the kitchen sink be located in an approved position and extended to a height which he may designate.

In making his recommendations Mr. Ball said:

"On account of the numerous defects revealed in the present types of yard hydrants, and the serious consequences in the way of damp walls, rotting floors, etc., which are caused by the use of such hydrants, as the waste of Potomac water from such hydrants, I see no reason why, in future constructions, these fixtures cannot be entirely dispensed with."

"The main objection to requiring a kitchen sink instead of a yard hydrant for affording a supply of water for domestic purposes is on account of the increased cost of the running trap required. If, however, the conditions will justify, as I think they will in most cases, the omission of a running trap in premises having greater heights and adjacent windows."

Hearing Continued.

TRAFFIC COULD BEAR THE RATES.

Mr. Gill replied, as he had previously, that in the judgment of the committee, the rates in which advances were made could well stand them, and that the railroads needed the additional revenue which the advances would give them. He indicated by his answers that the present prices of the railroads paid him had little if anything to do with the action of the committee, except that, in a general way, the committee felt the articles on which increased rates had been made could afford to pay them.

ENTITLED TO PAYMENT.

Swift & Co. Not to Blame Because the Beef on the Manilla Spoiled.

Mr. Tracwell, the controller of the treasury, has ruled upon the claim of Swift & Co. of Chicago for the price of 300,000 pounds of fresh beef which, according to contract, was shipped from Newport News, Va., August 5, 1898, for use of the army in Porto Rico. The record shows that the Manilla, the transport on which the beef was shipped, arrived off Ponce August 10, where she ran on a reef and remained until August 11. The captain of the transport made a statement to have the beef issued direct from the officers' messes on shore, but the officers in charge refused to receive it. August 25 the transport was ordered to leave for Manila. The beef was issued to the troops direct, as there was no refrigerating plant on shore. On the same day she returned to Ponce, where she remained until September 7, and was then ordered to Montauk Point, N. Y., when the beef was found to be unfit for use. The board of survey found that the loss by spoiling of the beef was not due to any negligence or fault on the part of the contractor, and that the loss was at the time of its condemnation the beef was the property of the United States and directs that the claim be settled accordingly.
